was taken by the German Minister and introduced to the Taungli Yamen. From that body he received authority and a letter to deal directly with the Governor in the settlement of his affairs. He was also honoured and helped by Vicercy Li. Coming with these letters in his peasension, the Governor felt it expedient to see him, even though too fooble to discuss any of the questions. How different this reception and access from that of an American missionary who referred from Peking some four years ago the Governor, but instead met only with rebuffs, failing to secure an interview even with the Taotal, till new orders were issued! It is evident success or failure depends on the preliminary.
